living performance

PARADOR

Every day performance

Living spaces are an expression of our individual attitude to life and of our own individual demands. For us, making high demands means having an awareness for quality. At Parador, we unite this awareness for quality with a sense for the classic and a flair for the time in which we live. The result is a wide spectrum of products, whose confident style down to the last detail is equally convincing as the natural impression of their material.

Philosophy

We have developed a value compass that guides us through all our decisions. It determines how Parador acts and gives what we do a sense of reliability. This applies to our company and our products, through which our inner attitude is expressed: we live for products that make any home the most beautiful home in the world. Attention to detail, inventiveness and a willingness to develop go hand in hand with our products. We work every day to delight demanding customers.

Inspiration

Many people love and feel the inspiration behind products. That is why we expand energy and commitment to create new possibilities and realise convincing products. Developments from architecture and interior design that provide impetus, a feel for trends, stimuli from lifestyle, handcraft and art repeatedly inspire our product developers and designers to come up with new ideas. This also enables completely new products to be developed, whose unseen installation patterns, individually combined finishes and easy installation makes them into trendsetters.

Design

For us, design is an expression of personality: it places the focus on the person and his ideas. In this respect, innovative new products with unseen surface looks open up an unlimited variety of design with uncompromising production perfection. Our internal design team and the collaboration with outstanding personalities from the international design scene are a guarantee of this scope. The result is convincing and unusual products that underline Parador's claim as a creative leader.

Quality

Parador offers premium quality „Made in Germany“. Our many years of experience provides the foundation for this combined with the relentless drive to further develop our expertise. The quality begins with the selection of high quality yarns and is demonstrated in the brilliant colours across the whole textile surface. The innovative ClickTex floors are characterised by perfect transitions, high trimmed edge strength and unique design options.

Materiality

The raw material wood does not only play a supporting role as a material at Parador. It also inspires us to create new products – for instance ClickTex, a floor with a textile surface, combined with a wood fibreboard in familiar click mechanism. Parador offers the textile finish in the form of a finely tufted melange velour or in frieze quality made of 100 % nylon.

Technology

Parador textile floors get their unmistakable character from the combination of wood fibre core boards with a tufted surface. The patented click-in system ensures easy installation and perfect transitions. The result is a new look in the world of textile coverings with particularly neat edges. Our sturdy connections, which ensure fitting accuracy and stability, are crucial for a long-lasting, resilient result.

Health in the home

The production of environmentally friendly and healthy products is a key issue in Parador's corporate philosophy. We also live up to this responsibility in the production of ClickTex floors. A scientific study by the Association for Environment and Interior Analytics (GUI) on behalf of the German Allergy and Asthma Association (DAAB) found that textile floor coverings considerably reduce the fine dust content of the air indoors. Furthermore, ClickTex floors are kind on the joints and muscles and provide secure footing. They insulate impact noise and thus have a positive effect on the room noise level.

Sustainability

As a traditional wood processing company, we hold our environment in the highest esteem. For us, living with a certain quality standard in the present must go hand in hand with responsibility to conserve the planet for future generations. We stand up to this responsibility with products that set standards in terms of ecology with the materials used and their processing, production, packaging and also logistics. What is more, we have been actively committed to conserving the environment for years.

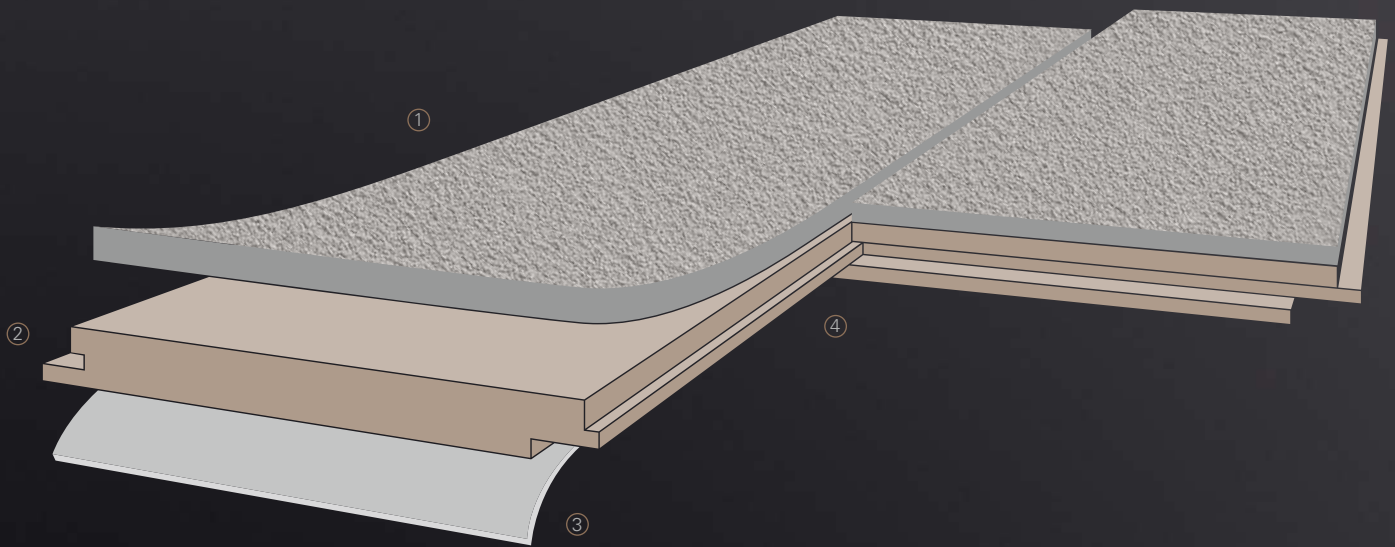

The best of two worlds: wood meets textiles

With ClickTex, Parador presents a new and completely unique flooring range, which combines the stability of wood with the benefits of textile surfaces in furious style. The textile layer is applied to an oversize core board and can be easily installed thanks to the tried and tested Safe-Lock click mechanism. The ability to combine different shades and colours, plank by plank, ensures even more design options in the space. ClickTex – the innovation made of wood and textiles – makes home living an individual experience.

Product lines

Different people place different demands on contemporary floors. For some they should be classically elegant, whilst others value individualism and the ability to create their own colour accents. Parador also keeps a well-thought-out and clearly structured selection of intelligent products in the field textile floors. You will therefore find the right floor to match your personality.

Classic

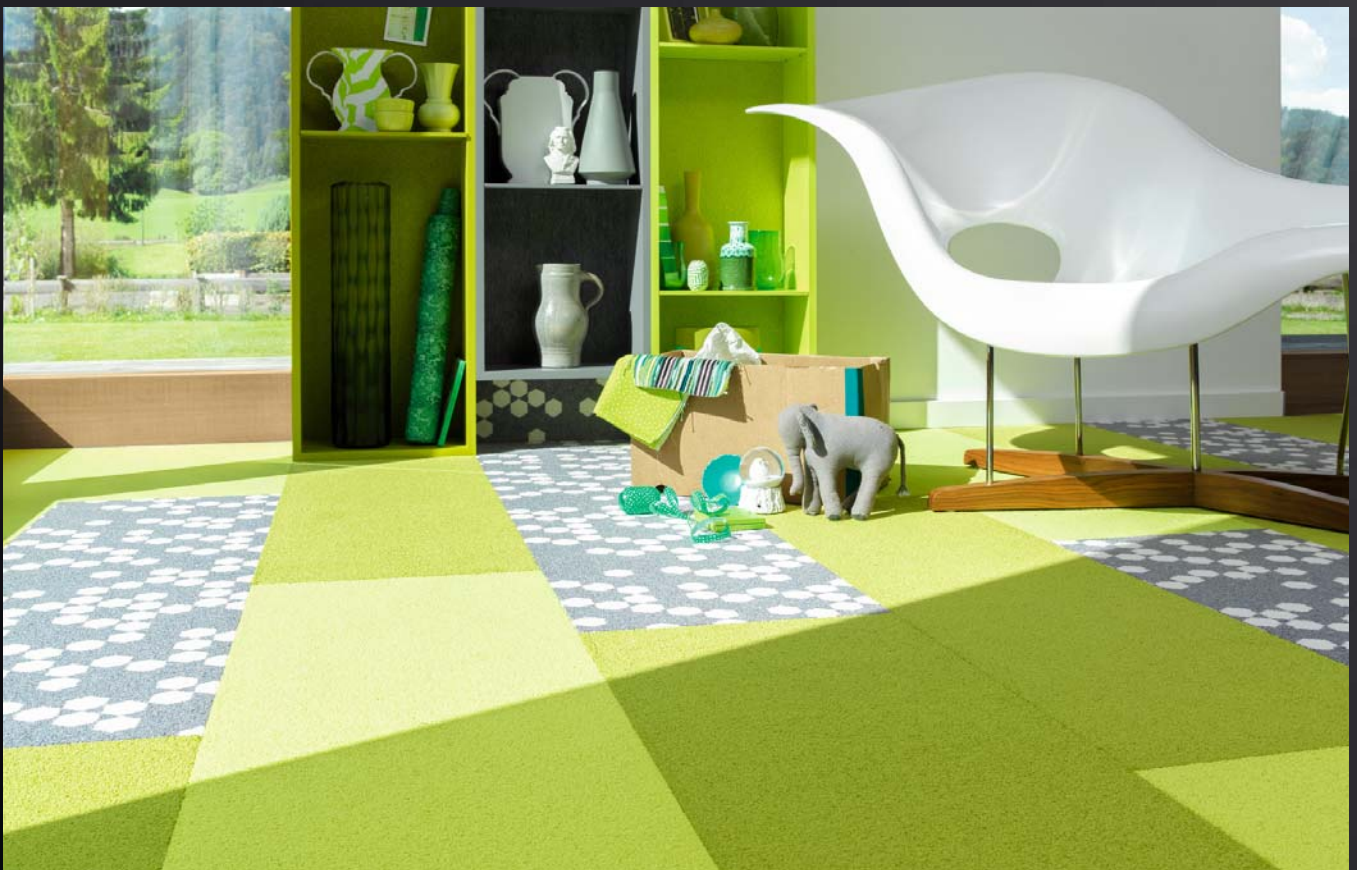

The classic floor

A good quality and elegance are found in the universally usable ClickTex floors from the Classic range for higher demands. Melange velour in warm shades and attractive colours dominates here. The planks allow an individual colour to be installed or different shades to be combined for a progression from light to dark, for example. A classic design that will also endure tomorrow.

Trendtime

The sophisticated floor

The product line, Parador Trendtime offers ClickTex floors with frieze surfaces, which can be put together in a monochrome arrangement or also according to the mix and match principle. The sophisticated choice of colours enables surfaces to be combined with each other in a very individual manner. Whether installed plain, with stripes or as a colour accent – the final result is a unique space in an unusual design.

ClickTex

Quality with system

ClickTex

Parador ClickTex consists of dimensionally stable wood fibre core boards with a balancing layer made of cork, which is covered with a layer of yarn and then further processed. The winch dyeing process creates authentic colours with lasting resistance. The result: a floor that is easy to install like laminate – warm and quiet like carpet – in a unique textile plank look.

Product features

Edge swelling protection

Swell-resistant core boards and all-round edge impregnation ensure outstanding edge swelling protection.

Safe-Lock®

The patented click mechanism with Safe-Lock® profile allows the planks to easily click in, thus enabling them to be joined together quickly and easily.

Increased antistatic

The excellent conductivity significantly reduces the risk of electrostatic charge from the floor.

Impact noise insulation

Thanks to a layer of cork, the excellent impact noise insulation of ClickTex floors is further reinforced.

Mix and Match

More than a surface

The new ClickTex floors offer more than a purely textile finish. They feature the plank look familiar from the engineered wood and laminate flooring ranges, which is characterised by long and end edge joints. The joints provide a unique atmosphere and dynamism to any space even when installed as a plain colour.

ClickTex offers the textile finish in the form of selected, high quality yarns in a finely tufted melange velour or in frieze quality.

Perfect finish

Parador stocks a wide range of matching skirtings for all ClickTex floors. Besides authentic interpretations of wood, colours such as stainless steel, white and black also allow you to make a conscious statement and create an individual design.

No matter which format you opt for: all skirtings with a high quality HDF core are suitable for damp rooms, are fully encased at the edges and feature an excellent surface quality. What is more, the mouldings are easy to fasten and assemble using the practical clip technology. End caps plus interior and exterior corners in various looks round off the Parador range.

THE MAGAZINE FROM PARADOR

living performance

Setting standards. Practising responsibility.

As a traditional company working closely with wood, we are aware of our particular responsibility for the environment and towards handling natural resources in a sustainable manner. Active reforestation and innovative product chains characterise the production at Parador. In this way, for example, we can use our expertise to offer wood fibre core boards that are produced ecologically and from timber for sustainable forestry. Our products are regularly tested by independent institutes for their environmental impact and have been found to be good. In order to satisfy our high ecological standards, we only develop and produce our products in Germany. We therefore ensure that Parador ClickTex floors meet our quality and sustainability claims across the board but in terms of work conditions too, Parador produces in a fair and just manner.

Parador also supports the Plant-for-the-Planet initiative, which sends a signal for climate justice worldwide through tree-planting actions. Parador sponsors the numerous children's academies, where young participants are trained to become ambassadors for climate protection.

Art of living meets perfor- mance demand

For us, the art of living is an appreciation of beauty and to create inspiration out of it at any moment in time. Performance is a permanent feature of our life.

Performance is a permanent feature of our life. Day after day, we demand performance. Delivering daily performance requires solid ground beneath our feet.

You can find more information about us, our standard of quality and design and about our assortments on the Internet under: www.parador.de.
