Contemporary

Reinvented cork looks for sophisticated atmospheres

Contemporary homes are by definition visually light and functional. The "less is more" rule applies and all decor elements are carefully chosen.

When on a new project or remodeling an existing space, flooring takes place as one of the first decisions to be made. The style and type of benefits it can provide are highly considered during the decision process, in order to achieve the desired authenticity and functionality.

Fashionable Glacier has, for instance, a reinvented cork pattern veneer which results in an excellent option when creating a decor for a home open space. The neutral colour palettes will enable calm and relaxing atmospheres.
